County Authorizes ROW Warrants

Warrants to pay for the rest of the right of way needed for the Amarillo to Canyon expressway will be issued by Randall County, the commissioners court decided Monday.

The court will order that $100,000 in warrants will be available for purchases if needed. The warrants will be paid from the road and bridge funds, and will be repaid over a 10 year period.

The decision was reached after auditor E. T. Cummings presented a report of money left in the right of way fund and an estimate of what will be needed.

The average interest rate on the warrants will be 3.18 per cent. Interest for the first five years will be 3 per cent, and will be 3.25 per cent for the last five years.

Cumming's report showed that checks written on the right of way fund gives an overdraft in the fund of $141,770.78. A claim for $135,049.90 has been presented to the state highway department and is expected to be paid soon. An overpayment of $3,470.30 is due the county from O. H. Dixon, leaving a net overdraft of $3,250.58.

The Dixon overpayment came because the county put up money in escrow in the amount awarded the Dixons by a condemnation commission. A county jury lowered the award by the amount of the overpayment, and Dixon is obliged to repay it.

The right of way fund was loaned $34,809.55 from road and bridge funds, and the total deficit in the right of way fund is $38,060.13.

The estimated additional needs for right of way and moving utilities is $153,328.02. That amount added to the deficit leaves a total deficit of $191,388.15.

Some $47,387.19 in claims will be filed with the state for purchases already made. The claims are held up at present because of needs for releases or other files. Future possible claims, for land not yet purchased, will be $76,663.50.

Those amounts subtracted from the expected deficit leave a total estimated deficit of $66,827.46. That amount is the minimum the county will need in order to finish buying right of way.

The county authorized issuance of $250,000 in warrants when purchasing began on Highway 60. Some $30,000 of those warrants were never issued, and will not be because the issue carried an interest rate of 4.25 per cent.

If only $66,000 is needed for finishing purchases, only that amount of the $100,000 authorized will be issued, the commissioners said. Interest will be paid only on the amount issued.

Earlier, the commissioners were told that gasoline tax refunds can be obtained from the state for gasoline purchased to operate county owned maintenance and constuction vehicles.

The county has not been collecting the refunds since 1952 because of a misunderstanding of a ruling by the attorney general. John C. Wilson of Amarillo, a representative of the state comptroller's office, said that such vehicles as mowing machines, front end loaders and maintainers would be included as the type that refunds can be obtained for.

He said that no refund can be given if any of the motor vehicle tax money apportioned each county is used to purchase the gasoline. Wilson instructed auditor Cummings on the procedures necessary to collect the refunds.

The court also met with Knox Parr of the highway department right of way office and T. G. Hull Jr., Canyon manager of Southwestern Public Service, about a bill for relocating the utility's line along the expressway. Parr said the state would share the cost for moving the line on all work done after the 50-50 contract was signed Aug. 9, 1958. Hull said he would ask the company accounting office to prepare the bill in two parts, with the split for work done before and after the date of the contract.

County Treasurer Mrs. Ruth Hill reported to the court the receipt of a check for $3,050.83 from the United States treasurer as payment in lieu of taxes from Buffalo Lake. The check was about $700 greater than that of last year.

The court ordered that the check be split with 25 per cent going to the school and the remainder to be credited to the road and bridge funds. This is the same disposition that has been followed in past years.

Pre-Football Feed

Murphy White, left, Bill Sternenberg and John P. Taylor were among the 75 football fans who had a pre-game meal Thursday night in the college cafeteria, and heard details of the season ticket program for West Texas State football. The group then watched the spring intersquad game of the Buffaloes. The Maroon team, composed of the first and third teams, defeated the White team, composed of the second, fourth and fifth teams, by a score of 26-8. Jerry Wiiliams, a speedy small halfback, led scoring with a three yard plunge in the first quarter and a 15-yard run in the fourth. Jones Hedrick scored from four yards out in the second quarter and Jimmy Janes made a 10-yard run in the fourth to complete scoring for the Maroons. The Whites' only score came near the end of the game when Bill Woods passed to Jim Brinkley for 13 yards and a TD. Carl Johnston ran the extra points for the Whites and Bill Mayfield ran the extra points for the Maroons after the first score.

Spring Is Here

Even though north winds helped March leave like a lion, Spring is really here. This forsythia bush, on the WT campus, is in solid bloom, with the delicate yellow flowers creating a splash of gold against the north wall of J. A. Hill Chapel.

Permit Totals Follow Trend

Building in Canyon during March followed the trend set in February, and dropped again by about half. The March building permit total is $22,150, just about half the $45,300 in February.

February's total was about half of January's.

Canyon building in March included two new structures with a total value of $20,500, a commercial building worth $750, commercial remodelling worth $500 and residential alteration worth $400.

The year's building permit total now stands at $158,750. Permits issued in March include:

Swatzell Brothers, Second Avenue and 11th Street, storage shed, March 9.

Charles Donnell, 2306 Seventh Avenue, move in residence, March 6.

D. R. Weaver, Second Avenue and 23rd Street, remodel cafe, March 6.

Mrs. C. N. Plaster, 1004 Eighth Avenue, residence, March 11.

Gazzaway Rites To Be Held Today

Services in memory of Henry LeRoy Gazzaway will be held at 2 p. m. today in the First Baptist Church of Happy.

Mr. Gazzaway died Monday at his home in Happy following a lengthy illness.

The Rev. Floyd Haddock, pastor, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Walter Hadley, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Pallbearers will be Jack Caudell, Sherman Cox, Bill Penn, William Gazzaway, Lindsey Pennington and Don Foster.

Burial will be in the cemetery at Happy, under the direction of Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Gazzaway was born June 24, 1908, at Merkel and moved to Happy in 1925. He was a member of the Methodist Church at Union Ridge in Taylor County.

Surviving are his parents, four sons, three daughters, four sisters and four brothers.

VFW Officers To Be Installed

Officers for the Lucius Penick Post 5681, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be installed tomorrow night at the VFW Clubhouse, 2½ miles north of town.

Delbert Devens of Tulia, District Commander of the VFW, will be installation officer.

Trustees are Roland Hicks, Ira Weldon and Woody Pond. Trustees are elected for one, two, and three year terms. Hicks and Pond were holdover trustees; Weldon being the newly elected.

Butler Services To Be Held Today

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. this afternoon at the First Baptist Church for Mrs. Mamie Ross Butler, who died Monday morning at her home, where she was recuperating from a broken hip.

The Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Canyon. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery at Tulia, under direction of Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Mrs. Butler, 68, had lived here since 1933, when she moved from Tulia. A member of the First Baptist Church, she was born Feb. 23, 1891, at Azie, Texas.

Her home was 711 19th St.

Pall bearers will be Joe Gidden, George Gidden, Ross Gidden, Cecil O'Donald, Dan O'Donald, and Edwin Ray Gidden.

Survivors include four sons, Wiley of Amarillo, James A. of Tulia, Thomas W. of Dallas and Garland of Canyon; two daughters, Mrs. Mamie A. Miller of Amarillo and Mrs. Dorothy M. Duniven of Jal, N. M.; a brother, E. Gidden of Canyon; two sisters, Mrs. Ara Adkinson of Canyon and Mrs. C. W. Crawford of Memphis and 14 grandchildren.

School Election Set on Saturday

Election of three members of the Canyon Independent School District board is scheduled for Saturday in the American Legiin hall here.

Only three persons have filed for the posts. They are A. C. Haley Jr., Bill Sternenberg and Walter Graham. All three are incumbents.

Eligible to vote in the election are qualified voters of the school district. Polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Chamber Meeting Set Friday Noon

Bob Wear, chairman of the charter commission for Canyon, will discuss the proposed charter at a membership luncheon of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce in the Blue Room of the WT cafeteria Friday.

The charter has been written by the commission and is now being checked by the Texas League of Municipalities. After it is returned, it will be checked again by the charter commission and submitted for a vote by the people.

If the membership meeting is a success, and the members show interest in further meetings, the chamber plans to schedule regular sessions. One possibility for a speaker is Sen. Grady Hazlewood discussing the proposed consolidation of Potter and Randall.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hinders and son, Gary Ray, spent the Easter holidays with the Louis Hinders families here and the John Barnharts of Kress. Raymond is in the research division in the University of Nebraska.

Baseball Session Slated Tuesday

An orientation meeting for umpires has been scheduled for 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday in the West Texas State College fieldhouse by the Babe Ruth and Little Leagues.

Anyone who can contribute any time, even a minimum to umpiring is urged to attend, according to George de Schweinitz.

Tony Rossi, Little League, and de Schweinitz, Babe Ruth League, are leading the two leagues in a search for available help in the summer baseball program.

Games will be played Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, with one game slated at 5 p. m. and two at 7:30.

Poles and lighting equipment will be put in place soon, probably during the month of April at the Babe Ruth field near the Little League field, according to de Schweinitz.

Col. Edward L. Lindsey was recently elected president of the Babe Ruth, replacing Tom Langston, who was forced to resign because of other duties.

What's This Story About the Stork?

Some people think it's the stork, but Dovie and I know better. We know it's the Easter bunny.

Angela Cherry was born at 11:31 a. m. Sunday in Neblett Hospital. She weighed six pounds, two ounces, and was 18½ inches long. She has brown hair.

Both Dovie and Angela are doing fine. Angela's older sister, Cristi, is visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cherry in Lorenzo. Her other grandmother, Mrs. E. L. Keene of Canyon, comes to see her every day.

Farm Bureau Prexy Speaks Here

Directing his attention first to national problems and second to agricultural problems, J. H. West of Bishop, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, spoke to about 40 farmers in Canyon Wednesday night.

West talked of the need to balance the national budget and halt inflation. "I am fearful for us if we don't change the road we're on," he said.

He said the U. S. needs to halt inflation, "or it won't make any difference what subsidies or payments there are. We must solve this problem first—or the rest will be just passing moments."

West said we should be concerned about the "road to socialism." He said that nobody would deny that the U. S. has a form of socialism now, what with the government supplying postal service, road building and many other services. "I'm talking about government that controls the lives of people. If we had that, we wouldn't like it here," West said.

He gave instances of government control in England.

On the farm front, West said the Farm Bureau policy is to move in the direction of a free market as opposed to subsidies and acreage controls. He said the policy is not to make an immediate jump to a free market, but to make adjustments over a period of time.

We're either going in the direction of a free market or toward more controls." He said that some are advocating direct payments to farmers.

J. H. WEST

West told of direct payments to poultry farmers in England. He said the government pays the farmer 56 cents per dozen for eggs, then sells them to consumers at 28 cents per dozen. The payment to the farmer comes from tax money, West said.

"If we're growing any crop that is not moving in the market, we should be concerned about it," West said. He cited wheat as one crop that is not moving, but is in surplus.

In speaking of the Farm Bureau's milo policy, West said that two things are needed in an agriculture bill for maize. They are: 1. A relationship with corn on the basis of feeding value, and 2. An adjustment for market acceptance. The second point would have meant a 27 cent difference from corn, at the most, West said.

He said the Farm Bureau is working with Congress to make a change in the price of milo this year—and indicated there might be an upward adjustment of three cents or so before the crop goes into loan.

No doubt in my mind that milo will move into the market above the loan price this year," West said. "This is good. It is good for the industry."

The Farm Bureau policy is to

One Place Instead Of Three

Paying taxes is never fun, but sometimes, we wonder if it would not be less irksome if the average citizen could pay all three sets of his local taxes in one place.

Always in the past, any convenience concerning the payment of taxes seems to have been viewed from the standpoint of the office staff, rather than that of the taxpayer. Any successful business must, of necessity, operate in just the reverse.

Because taxes are a monopoly, like postage stamps, it has been pretty well the custom to let the customer worry about getting to the proper place on time, along with how he can rake up enough money. The post office, however, does usually make an attempt to secure a practical and convenient location; nor do they they make the customer travel to one part of town to mail a letter, then back to another part for parcel post.

Impractical under present laws, but also worth considering, are the thousands of dollars which could be saved in Texas if some plan could be adopted whereby the same office force might handle all three sets of tax books. Such a plan, no doubt, would save the tax payer an immediate 40 to 50 per cent on the cost of gathering, assessing and collecting taxes. Under the present system, work is not duplicated twice, but three times.

With currently rising taxes, plus the prospect of additional tax advances, it seems practical that our officials and legislators might well give some consideration to savings of this sort, instead of continually spending more. This is especially true in the case of tax collections, where a practical, more efficient operation would definitely result in added convenience for the customer—the average tax payer.

Oh, Is That So?

A column put out by the Texas lawyer's union discusses juries of the past, and present day juries—their differences and similarities.

One statement is this: "The early juries knew the facts before they met; today they should hear the facts for the first time in court."

And that's as farcial a statement as we've seen in quite a while. In this age, with news media all over the place, it would be a real recluse who has heard none of the facts before a case comes to trial.

Practically any trial, especially if it is a criminal trial, has been discussed in newspapers, over radio and TV any number of times. It's hard to escape from the barrage.

So any jury that could be picked is bound to include those who have heard at least some of the facts before hand. The trick is to find people who can disregard what they have already heard and seen, and listen again to a recital of the facts with an open mind.

Thank You Sirs

Last weekend we were notified that we had been given an honorable mention in a contest for stories on railroads. The contest was sponsored by the Texas Railroad Association.

The honorable mention, one of three granted, carries no financial reward. What with a new baby in the family (see Page One), we could have used the money.

But it is gratifying to gain recognition, wherever it might come from. And it was especially gratifying in this case, because the judges were the publisher of the Denver Post, and the editors of the Memphis, Tenn., Commercial Appeal and the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch.

Thank you very much gentlemen, we appreciate it.

A Real Privitege

Not too many people have the advantage of looking backwards for a year and see just exactly what they have done. We have that advantage in the newspaper business, and about once a year we take the time to look closely at what we've done. Usually it is when we are looking for issues to be entered in contests of the Panhandle PUress Association, Texas Press Association and National Editorial Association.

We have just finished that chore. We saw many of the mistakes we made, and we found a few items that we felt proud of.

It was surprising to us that we put out as many newspapers as we did that were pretty good. We tend to get the feeling that we haven't done so well, and it is quite a bolster to our ego when we find that we did all right every once in a while.

It was a real privilege for us to look back over the last year's work.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Jimmie Gillentine in the Hereford Brand: Sheriff Charles Skelton was telling about a fellow who brought his wife in to see a psychiatrist and it developed that the lady had, for the past two weeks, come to a certain conclusion that she was a chicken instead of a human.

"She needs help, all right," agreed the doctor. "But if this has been going on for two weeks, why didn't you bring her in sooner?"

"Well, Doc," replied the farmer, "with the low price support on maize, Easter coming on, and everything, I figured we shore could use a few extra eggs."

Paul Crume in the Dallas Morning News: Frances Clark of Anchorage in the new state of Alaska has been in town on business for several days and quickly worked up a complaint.

For lack of anything else to do Sunday, she says, she went to the Home Show. They announced at the show that somebody was going to get a free long distance call to "anywhere in the United States" and then picked her out of the crowd.

When they found out where she was from, however, there was a quick huddle.

"That's not in the United States," they informed her.

It was the same, she said, when she tried to cash a check on her Alaskan bank at her hotel. "Not in the United States," she was told.

Douglas Meador in the Matador Tribune: While I have often found poverty inconvenient, and in a few instances, embarrassing, it has never given me any great concern. I do not remember ever envying anyone of their possessions, although I have know extreme hunger while under the mad spell of ambition. But poverty is different to a woman, especially if she is sensitive to its insults. Once as a youth I drove my old Model T to the house where an attractive girl dwelt. It was an old house elevated several feet on cedar posts, and a sand storm rattled its door and windows. Sand swept the barren yard and drifted into the turfs of dry Johnson grass that bordered the site. An eerie blue light reflected from a broken window pane. When the girl came to the door she glanced at the decayed planks in the veranda floor, the old wagon beyond the door and the hopeless brown sky. She broke into sobs as we went to the automobile. Poverty was like a brand on her heart. Perhaps destiny has brought her freedom from the pain she knew that far away day.

I GIVE YOU
TEXAS
By BOYCE HOUSE

One of the most interesting men with whom I have ever been associated (and one of the finest) was the late R. K. Phillips. He was manager of the Eastland Daily Oil Belt News when I became editor in 1921.

Things were pretty rushed during the day but, after the evening meal, there was opportunity for talk. Mr. Phillips had many wise sayings. He summed up the story of the settlement of the West with a sentence that I had never heard before, "Cowards never started and the weak died on the way." He also was the first I ever heard use the expression depicting the story of a fortune, "From shirt-sleeves to shirt-sleeves in three generations."

My work as executive vice president of a state association calls for considerable travel so I made application for a hotel credit card. Pretty soon here came a letter to the association from the credit organization, stating, "Your Mr. Boyce House has applied for a credit card. Please tell us whether you consider him reliable. Any information will be kept confidential."

The reply to this inquiry read, "I unqualifiedly recommend Boyce House in every way. (Signed) Boyce House."

You know, three months went by and I thought I wasn't going to get that card. At last it came. I guess that organization finally hired somebody with a sense of humor.

This is a political legend of Texas and if any reader knows of any actual facts on which the story might have been based, this chronicler would be happy to hear from him:

Many years ago, two friends were talking politics. One asked, "Who is going to be the next governor?" (It might have been U. S. Senator.) The other replied, "Brown." The first snorted, "Brown! Why, he'll be last." The upshot was a wager of $1,000 as to whether Brown would finish last.

The man who was betting that Brown wouldn't be last found his candidate was not doing well so he himself filed for the office (the filing fee was $100), made no campaign, finished last and won the bet. (Brown was next to last, by the way.)

Randall Bond Sales Reach 20 Per Cent

Savings Bonds sales in Randall County totaled $47,086 during February, according to Don Standley, chairman of the county's Savings Bonds committee.

Sales for the first two months amounted to $76,209, which is 20.2 per cent of the county's 1959 goal of $377,000.

Total sales in Texas during January and February were $31,100,328, which represented 17 per cent of the state's goal of $182.5 million.

Dear Editor,

One of the most overworked and abused phrases in the English language is the one "in the interest of peace and harmony."

Mr. West's rambling address last Wednesday night to the members of the Randall County Farm Bureau struck me as being along the same lines as the philosophy of our good Brother Benson, such as "swat the farmer first." Yes, my dear Virginia, there is a farm problem, a big one, and Mr. West, the American Farm Bureau, uncle Ezra and all the rest of them are as near a solution as I, myself, am and I don't know nothing.

One thing I can say for Mr. West—he is adroit at sidestepping questions with a joke or two, and, after all, I guess the farmers need something along that line to cheer them up. Too much talking over our heads, sort of like Roger Babson and Sylvia Porter advising us about what stocks to invest our money in — what money? The farmer would have his head in stratosphere if he made enough money for a down payment on his obligations and thereby stave off his creditors for another year, let alone buy any stocks.

The main theme of Mr. West's remarks seemed to be along the lines of our American way of life and the evils of inflation. Well, after all, we are all agin sin, ain't we? And we have had this hammered into our heads by Ike and "Lifeline" for several months now. Hitler once said that the constant repitition of propaganda would eventually make people believe same, but I think they will have a hard time making the farmers believe they are better off and more prosperous with less. This "Father knows best" policy at the top is already having repercussoins at the "grass roots," and even now the Farm Bureau is facing rebellion within its ranks.

They say that if their plan doesn't work after a while we can change it later on, but what if this "noble experiment" leaves a train of bankrupt farmers in its wake? Perhaps the medicine might even kill the patient in his present weakened condition. Oh, yes, it was good medicine, but he didn't take it soon enough. So, we got the farmer in a boat, took him out to the middle of the stream and abandoned him. Oh, well, serves him right as he should have learned to paddle his own canoe.

No, my dear, right or wrong, we have reached the point of no return in our farm program and there can be no turning back for a bunch of bankrupt farmers. They will have repercussions that would echo even in Wall Street and they would also augment our present labor market of 5 million unemployed by another 5 million and bring on the grandest depression we have ever witnessed.

I reckon we all have a hankering for the flesh-pots of Egypt but it would seem that the American farmer is standing in a precarious position along that line, thanks to the adverse publicity he has received from our Mr. Benson and the American Farm Bureau. Yes, I am a member and I intend to remain one. This is America and I have spoken my piece.

Yours very truly,
Farmer Schaeffer

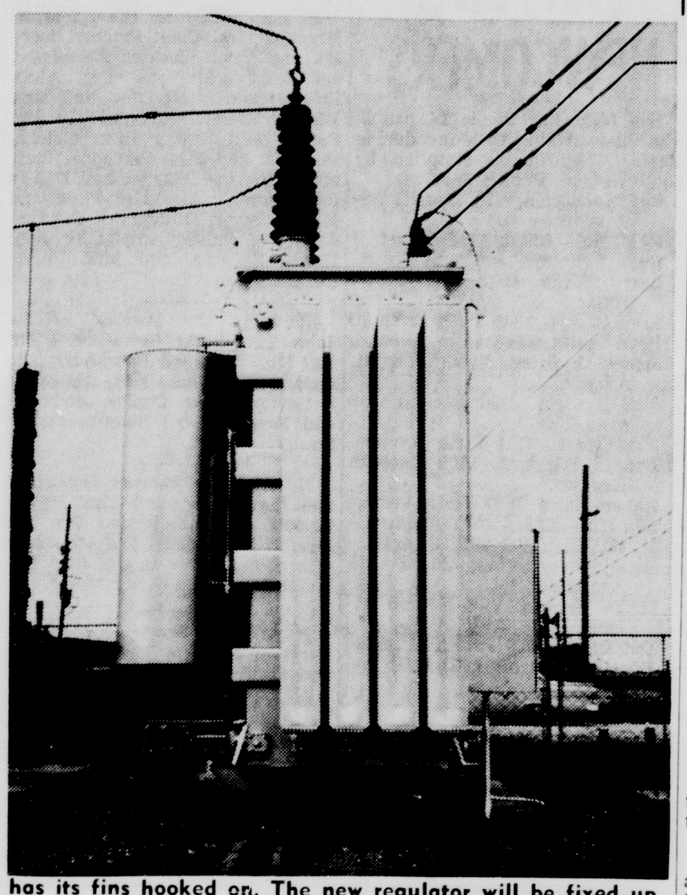
Powerful Shift Coming



The Southwestern Public Service Company shift from 7,500 KVA to 20,800 KVA at the substation in west Canyon is ready to take place. The huge regulator is shown on a trailer as it came down from the generating plant in Amarillo. The cooling fins are not attached. The old regulator, which will be sent to Friona after it is taken out of service here, has its fins hooked on. The new regulator will be fixed up to operate at a spot near the substation, then the old regulator will be shut off and moved to one side. It will be hooked up again and the new regulator will be shut down and moved into the spot where the old regulator was located.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Do you have any "odd" areas on your farm or ranch that could be fenced off and used for a wildlife area?

Such "odd" areas as the following make for more abundant wildlife when properly managed: narrow or sharp field corners, gullied areas, waterways, fence rows, and small fenced areas such as windbreaks near ponds or windmills.

Some of the brush and shrubs act as both food and cover: Mulberry, Russian Olive, Skunkbrush, Mimosa, and shinnery. Most of the large seeded grasses such as Switchgrass, Bristlegrass, Wheatgrasses, ryegrass, and panicums are beneficial to wildlife for food. Other plants that are beneficial to wildlife are plantings of multiflora rose, grape, plums and bicolor lespedeza. Most any native shrub, weed or grass will afford some protection and food.

Assume that a quail nest contains 12 eggs. Also assume that all 12 eggs hatch. Following is the fate of those young birds:

Accidents kill off about 70 per cent of each year's increase, predators kill 7 per cent, hunters take 10 per cent, disease and parasites kill 2 per cent, and starvation kills 11 per cent. This leaves only the parent birds to produce more quail as all the young birds have been lost. Is it any wonder we have no more quail than we have?

Saving only one bird per brood would mean a 50 per cent increase in breeding stock. With 50 per cent more breeding stock, it would mean 50 per cent more quail — or three coveys for each two that we have had.

What can farmers and ranchers do to save more young quail? They really have no control on anything except the supply of food and cover; but by providing more food and cover, that one young bird per covey could be saved. More food and cover would reduce the losses from starvation and predators.

The Randall-Potter Soil Conservation program. If you do not have a conservation plan, now is the time to contact your local Soil Conservation Service office to learn more about a conservation plan that will fit your land and operations.

Hinders' Herd Tops Production Figures

Leading Randall County in milk and butterfat production during February was the Louis G. Hinders herd of Holsteins, according to figures just released by the Randall County Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Other herds in the top three belonged to West Texas State College and Richmond Hales.

Two Holsteins and a Jersey, owned by West Texas State College, topped the list of high cows in butterfat production, followed by a Holstein owned by Neil Downing.

Other Randall County cows making the list were owned by Don Schaeffer, Eugene S. Bonds and Albert Craig.

Winn Qualifies For Final Contest

Bob Winn, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Winn, is among 29 area high school students qualifying for the final competition for scholarships from the Education Fund for Children of Phillips Petroleum Company Employees.

A total of 132 students from 20 states qualified for the scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board to be given May 16, after which the final selection of 50 winners will be made in June or July.

Each of the 50 scholarship awards provides $500 annually during four years of college attendance, subject to the maintenance of a satisfactory record by the winners.

Qualifying students who do not receive scholarships may apply for loans for higher education from a separate education loan fund.

OLIVE-SALMON-NOODLE RING

(Makes 6 servings)

- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 8 ounces fine egg noodles (about 4 cups)
- ¼ cup melted butter
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1⅔ cups (large can) undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
- 1 1-lb. can salmon
- ⅓ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
- ¼ cup chopped parsley

Add salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Combine noodles and 2 tablespoons butter; mix well. Press into buttered 8-inch ring mold; let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, cook onion in remaining 2 tablespoons butter 5 minutes over low heat. Blend in flour. Gradually add evaporated milk and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salmon, olives and parsley. Unmold noodle ring. Serve olive-salmon sauce inside ring. Garnish with whole olives.

Mrs. Conatser Has Pressing Program

A program on pressing techniques and tools was given when the Palo Duro-Rusk Home Demonstration Club met March 24 in the home of Mrs. Edd Reynolds with Mrs. Earl Reynolds as hostess.

Mrs. Charles Conatser was in charge of the program. She told members that, in pressing a bias skirt, the lengthwise grain from hem to waist should be placed on a straight line parallel with the edge of the board, and then be pressed with the grain.

Roll call was answered with pressing troubles by 11 members. Mrs. Cecil Armstrong of Lubbock was a visitor.

Mrs. Charles Wilkinson gave a devotional on "The Ressurrection." Mrs. Conatser reported that $12 had been collected from the members for the heart fund.

Final plans were made for the showing of the film "A Tenderfoot in Europe" in the film room of the West Texas State College library last Wednesday.

Next meeting will be held April 14 with Mrs. Roy Reynolds as the hostess.

Black Death was the name given to the plagues which swept 14th century Europe, taking some 25 million lives.

Youth Treatment

There's a lively, youthful feeling about motoring with Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel. And the reason is: Flite-Fuel is made with extra-lively components.

The extra amounts of high test natural and aviation elements in Flite-Fuel give you easier starting . . . faster engine warm-up . . . quick acceleration. You get the anti-knock benefits resulting from high octane, yet Flite-Fuel actually costs less than many other premium gasolines.

The Easter bunny must be at sixes and sevens with Mother Nature this year. From the look of things, he's as likely to make tiny tracks in the snow as to pant in the shade because his lapin jacket is too hot. A 60-mile-an-hour wind may wrap him around a telephone pole. Or he could ride out a sandstorm on a barrelling tumbleweed.

He may make like a groundhog — emerge and see his chilly shadow then burrow right back in for six weeks.

If Easter rabbits had the vote, they'd probably call a referendum on this calendar business. What, for instance, did the Council of Nice way back in 325 A.D. know about spring weather in the American Southwest 1934 years hence?

Easter Sunday was given the name of a pagan festival honoring the Teutonic goddess of dawn, which came at about the same time of year. These wise men decreed that Easter should be "the first Sunday after the first full moon after the full moon that occurs on the day of the vernal equinox (March 21) or any of the next 28 days." So it can be as early as March 22, or as late as April 25.

Now we say the Easter bunny, not knowing whether he's going to be playing hide-and-seek with the March lion or frolicking with April's lamb, has a problem. He just can't make plans.

Let's join him in a vote for "the first Sunday after the first crocus peeps through the snow," and all buy woolens for Easter finery. Or else, let's agree on "the second Sunday in April" and give Mother Nature a sporting chance to cooperate with us on pastel linens and silks.

Pat's New High School Details Discussed Patter

Six speech students of CHS participated in a program at the Woman's Book Club Wednesday afternoon. Virginia Crounse and Kerry Knorpp gave declamations which will be given at the Interscholastic League meet on April 10.

A debate, "Resolved: The United States should adopt the essential features of the British Education System," was presented by Mayla Atkinson and Pat Haley, affirmative, and Bill Cornette and Bill Callarman, negative.

Participants in the Easter Sunrise Service Sunday morning probably were not aware of the work done before hand to make the service possible. Members of the Youth Choir and brass quartet met with the director, Royal Brantley, for rehearsal Friday night at the First Christian Church.

Members of the CCYC and the choir spent Saturday morning at the park cleaning up the area around the crosses. That afternoon some of the students wired the public address system. The service is sponsored by the Canyon Christian Youth Council of which Dorothy Higdon is president.

The new high school will have some interesting new features. The seats in the auditorium will be staggered so that one seat will not be directly behind another. A large lobby will connect the gymnasium, cafeteria and auditorium. All trophies will be kept in the lobby.

The vocational building will be separated from the main building which will house classrooms for instruction in English, science, mathematics and home economics.

The building will follow the modern trend of few windows. Lighting in each room will be flourescent with little natural light. Brick and tile will be used extensively throughout the plant.

Judy Taylor and Linda Green will receive certificates for their state degrees at the state FHA meeting April 23. Their state degrees were approved recently by the Area I evaluation committee. Mrs. Clara Long is their sponsor.

Basketball climbed to new heights Thursday night when the senior team met the faculty. Some of the senior players wore long underwear under their uniforms. The senior coaches wore Bermuda shorts.

Mrs. Young, Mrs. Sanders, and Miss Carter were the cheerleaders for the victors. The faculty won with a score of 51-45.

Palo Duro Rusk HD Views "Tenderfoot"

"A Tenderfoot in Europe" was shown last Wednesday night to the Palo Duro-Rusk Home Demonstration Club in the film room of the West Texas State College library.

The film was photographed in color by Bill Rhew during last year's KGNC farm and ranch department's tour of Europe.

Following the showing, refreshments were served to members, their families and friends.

SEE, IT HAS THE MEDALLION JUST LIKE OUR HOUSE!

"...'course it's just a bird house, but to me it's real — just like the house we live in. Our house has the Medallion — the real Medallion and Daddy says that's what makes it a fine place in which to live. Daddy says our Medallion home has Housepower which, he says, means we've got enough 'lectricity to keep all our appliances pepped up and perking. And, Mommy says that's right. She just turns on switches and ol' Reddy Kilowatt does all the hard work. Mommy says, too, that our Medallion home has plenty of light for seeing — and in the right places, without glare. I'm sure glad we've got the Medallion — in both places."

Wow! What a Sticker

There's a deadline other than income tax coming up and Department of Public Safety receptionist Connie Crump of Lubbock is a pretty reminder. Midnight April 15, is the deadline for having 1959 inspection stickers on all Texas vehicles. The inspection sticker is what Miss Crump is pointing to, down at the bottom of the picture.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. George and son, Scotte, of Lubbock, visited her parents, the A. M. Cunninghams, during the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wharton visited in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Roy Medlin, of Seagraves.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

My Face Is Red

On March 8, I wrote a newsletter pointing out several items concerning the national debt and the amount of money that we in this country are required to expend each year. I also placed some figures in the newsletter with regard to the ownership of certain property by the federal government.

Among these figures I included the number of vehicles owned by Uncle Sam. These figures had been acquired from the Library of Congress and the other agencies of government that are supposed to have their information correct and up-to-date. When we received the information that the federal government, civilian and military, owned some 200 million vehicles, it somewhat startled us.

We rechecked with the sources of information and were advised that those figures were correct. However, in the last few days a new recheck has revealed that the figures were in error. The last figures I had included too many zeros at the end, and represented millions of vehicles rather than thousands.

The actual figures (that is, the last that we have received) reflect that the civilian arm of our government owns 107,094 vehicles and the military 108,743. Needless to say, I regret that this error was made, but figures have always confused me, especially when we get into the big ones. The federal government has grown so big that it is highly unusual to talk about anything less than a million.

Most of the conversation and talk refers to items in the billions. This probably explains why the information sent us by the Library of Congress referred to millions rather than thousands.

Perhaps the folks doing much of this research work have had so little to do with minuscule items like thousands that they don't recognize them when they see them. In any event, we apologize and assure you that the mistake was a mistake of mind and not of heart.

Since we are on the subject, it might be interesting for you to know some of the other statistics concerning the vehicles owned by the federal government and the cost of their operation. The 224,956 government-owned vehicles (this figure is slightly higher than the two above figures added together, because a few different types of vehicles have been included in this total figure) were driven a total of 1,900,032,525 miles.

These vehicles consumed 202,414,833 gallons of fuel for an average of 9.39 miles per gallon. The expenses incurred for all motor vehicles, government-owned and rented or leased, including direct operating expenses, maintenance and repair, depreciation, direct expenses for renting or leasing, overhead, indirect expenses, and miscellaneous expenses, amounted to $228,078,721.

These figures have been copied from the Annual Motor Vehicles Report of the General Services Administration and if any of them are wrong, it is because they were wrong in that report.

Foreign Aid

The foreign aid bill which the President is supporting is in for some troublesome times. The President has asked this Congress to give him the additional sum of $3.9 billion.

This measure is being thoroughly combed in the Committee on Foreign Affairs in the House of Representatives. This is excellent, because many of the bad features of the program can be brought out into the light and stopped. The Committee on Foreign Affairs has submitted an interim report on the subject which has some interesting facts. Among these were examples of poor stock keeping.

In one instance, only one carburetor for 2½ ton truck engines was found to be in stock for an entire army, and at another depot there were none. One installation had a 185-year stock of one particular type of ammunition. Another item of interest was the records in one motor pool that reflected a supply of 44 tires for each truck in the motor pool.

Other instances reflected that we were furnishing equipment far too complex for the military needs of some of the countries, the reason being that the models which would have best met the needs of these countries had become obsolete, but no adjustment had been made in furnishing the advanced equipment even though it did not meet the needs.

Numerous other such instances indicate and have indicated for a long time that some affirmative action was required in the Administration by correcting some of the administrative practices of the I.C.A. All of these will be fully aired in the debate before the House, and it will make some interesting reading.

Skeletons in the Closet

Or perhaps it should be "on the front lawn." The workmen engaged in reworking the East Front of the Capitol were excavating in search of the original cornerstone of the Capitol. They unearthed quite a pile of bones that have been pronounced by experts as formerly belonging to certain turkeys, pigs, and oxen. The great mystery was—who left the bones in the front yard of the Capitol?

The only acceptable answer so far seems to be that advanced by the Capitol Architect. He thinks that they are probably the remains of a ceremonial feast, barbecue, or whatever you want to call it, which took place at the time of the laying of the second cornerstone in 1851.

Dogs Catch 'Cat

Fairview Breezes

Charles Pierce preached for us Sunday morning. There were no services Sunday night as the pastor and his family visited his folks at O'Donnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Shipman came for the Easter holidays.

Guests at the Sunday morning services were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Prossor and boys of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davis and daughter, Bobby Gauthreaux of Roswell, N. M., Darla Ann Whitson and Susie Whitson, both of Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. Hill Smith and boys of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Shipman of Farmington, N. M.

Darla Ann Whitson and Susie Wesley came up Friday and visited until Monday with their grandparents, the J. W. Wesleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bramlett and children visited Saturday night and Sunday in the paternal E. W. Schaeffer home.

Five tables of progressive "42" were in progress throughout the evening in the E. W. Schaeffer home Saturday, the final night of the community tournament. Mrs. G. E. Wesley won the final and grand prize for high score, with Frank Rogers winning low.

Woodrow Wesley had what might have been a serious accident when he fell off the back of his pickup. When he caught the tailgate, it fell, throwing him to the ground and knocking him unconscious. He was rushed to the hospital for treatment, but was released.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sutton attended the funeral of Mrs. Bill Boyd in Amarillo Thursday. Mrs. Boyd will be remembered as Erma Mae Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wesley visited a while Tuesday with Ona Holland. Mrs. Holland is a cousin of the women.

We are sorry to report the passing of Hugh Holland, a long-time resident of Wayside.

The two young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson were sick Saturday night.

C. P. and Frank Rogers were in Happy Saturday afternoon.

Eikner-Newberry Vows Exchanged

In a simple ceremony at the First Methodist Church at 7 p. m. last Thursday, Doris Anne Jennings Eikner and Clifton Newberry Jr. were united in marriage.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Worth Jennings of Canyon and Clifton Newberry Sr. of El Paso and Mrs. Lonnie Allen of French East Morocco.

The couple will live at 2103 Sixth Avenue and are attending West Texas State College.

work toward a bill that will make the annual loan price for milo the average market price for the past three years.

In discussing wheat, West said that two questions must be answered before the surplus can be cut down. The first is whether or not the 15-acre exemption should be abandoned, and the second is whether or not the wheat producers are willing to take cuts so that supply can be brought in line with demand.

West said the 15-acre exemptions and the soft wheat areas are producing all the wheat the nation needs, and that doesn't include the production of the wheat belt of the Great Plains.

On the farm labor situation, West said it is the avowed intention of the Labor Department that farm labor be brought under the provisions of the minimum wage and hour law.

He said also that labor unions say they are going to organize farm labor. These two items would raise the cost of production, West said, and there would probably be no resulting rise in the sale price of crops.

West said the Farm Bureau is working in the farmers' interest, and wants farm prices to be as high as possible. He said the leaders of the organization are guided by the policy set by the membership, and the leaders cannot change the policy.

Royce Gum from Texas A&M spent the weekend with his parents, the L. E. Gums.

Maj. H. A. Brotherton Jr. and family of Oklahoma City spent the weekend with the H. A. Brothertons.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
TO AIR CONDITION COURTHOUSE

The Commissioners Court of Randall County will accept bids until Monday, April 13, at 1:30 P. M. for the purchase of room, refrigeration type, air-conditioners for the Randall County Courthouse, in the following amounts and descriptions:

6-1 Ton, 208 Volt
14-2 Ton, 208 Volt
3 1½ Ton, 208 Volt

The above units to be installed in the courthouse offices as per the locations agreed on by the Commissioners Court.

Also bids will be accepted in connection with the above coolers, or separately if a bidder should so wish to bid, for installing the necessary conduit and wire to bring in power from the transformer to service the coolers. Wiring will be run in conduits along the outside of the courthouse walls, rather than inside, with connection boxes for plugging in coolers.

Bidders should specify in their bids the bid price of coolers, installing coolers, and for wiring courthouse, if all three items are to be included in their bid. Further information may be received by contacting Mr. Leroy Miller, Janitor, at the Courthouse.

The Commissioners Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

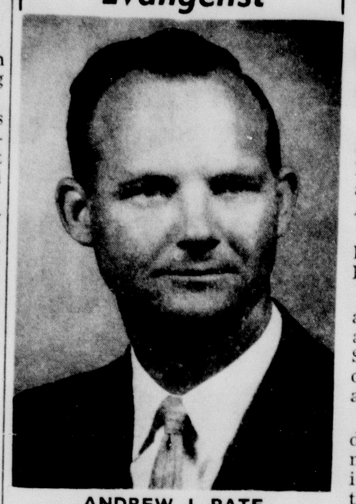
Evangelist



ANDREW J. PATE

Supper Scheduled For Friday Night

A skillet burger supper will be sponsored by the Junior High Fellowship of the First Presbyterian Church between 5:30 and 7:30 p. m. Friday in the basement of the church.

Proceeds will help the junior highs finance a trip to Presbyterian missions in New Mexico. Tickets, on sale by the junior highs, are 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Calvary Baptists Schedule Revival

The Rev. Aaron D. Mann, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, 605 Fourth Avenue, has announced that a revival has been scheduled for April 12-19.

The Rev. Andrew J. Pate of Palacios, Texas, will serve as evangelist.

Services will be held daily at 7 a. m. and 8 p. m., except Saturday and Sunday. There will be no Saturday morning service and Sunday morning services will be held at 11 a. m.

The Rev. Pate is the executive director of Texas Baptist Encampment at Palacios. Prior to accepting that position, he was pastor of the First Baptist Church at Sweeny for four years. During his pastorate, 210 were baptized and 320 were received by letter.
